Drawing Objections

The drawings are objected to because of the following informalities:

Each corrected drawing sheet must be labeled "REPLACEMENT SHEET" in accordance with 37 CFR 1.84(c).

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 U.S.C. § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this action:

Art Unit: 3742

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim 10 is rejected under 35 USC 102(e) as being anticipated by Tateishi (US 6,624,397). Tateishi (US 6,624,397) discloses an electric air heater comprising electric heating elements 24, 22 whose capacity automatically controls the speed of the fan motor. See Fig. 2, col. 2, lines 42-43, and col. 4, lines 18-55.

The scope and breadth of the claim language did not preclude the distinct electric heater-to-fan wiring arrangement of Tateishi (US 6,624,397) that inherently "provides information" regarding the heaters' capacity to control the fan responsive to such capacity. The "control" is the overall wiring arrangement that achieves a varying fan speed dictated by the heaters' differing capacity.

Joint Inventors -- Common Ownership Presumed

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103, the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligations under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of potential 35 U.S.C. 102(f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103.

Claim Rejections - 35 U.S.C. § 103(a)

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Subject matter developed by another person, which qualifies as prior art only under subsection (f) and (g) of section 102 of this title, shall not preclude patentability under this section where the subject matter and the claimed invention were, at the time the invention was made, owned by the same person or subject to an obligation of assignment to the same person.

Claims 11 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tateishi (US 6,624,397) in view of Bunn (US 5,170,042). The claims differ from Tateishi (US 6,624,397) in calling for distinct identifying resistances associated with different capacity levels for the electric heater. But incorporating unique resistors to automatically identify specific types of electric heating elements that are connected to electronic heating element controllers is well known in the art. Bunn (US 5,170,042), for example, discloses providing unique identifying resistors 60, 62 to establish a voltage divider with fixed resistors. See col. 2, lines 5-19. Such an arrangement provides a convenient automatic identification scheme depending on the value of a resistor, thus enabling the use of simpler, less-expensive passive components such as resistors. In view of Bunn (US 5,170,042), it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use resistors for the identification means in the previously described apparatus to provides a convenient automatic identification scheme depending on the value of a resistor, thus enabling the use of simpler, less-expensive passive components such as resistors.

Regarding claim 12, the scope and breadth of the term "wire harness" did not preclude the connecting structures of the cited prior art.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-9 and 13-16 are allowable over the art of record.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments have been considered but are deemed to be moot in view of the new grounds of rejection.

Final Rejection

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
